

Dear all

Abstract submission is now open for the 18th EARA conference which will take place in person, in Ireland, at Trinity College Dublin campus in the heart of Dublin city. The conference will run from Thursday, 25 August to Saturday, 27 August 2022, with a day of pre-conference events on Wednesday, 24 August.

Please submit your abstract here: <https://www.eara2022.com/submissions>.

Abstracts for symposia, individual papers and posters, views by two, and discussion sessions, are due on December 10, 2021.

We hope you will join us in Dublin for a high calibre academic programme, a tour of Dublin, Irish traditional music, and a gala dinner. EARA prioritises young scholars and we have a special set of young scholar events including networking and a young scholars' dinner. A generous number of bursaries are available to help with conference attendance for young scholars / early career researchers.

The conference is open to all scholars of adolescence internationally, and to practitioners who work with adolescent populations. Submissions are welcome on:

1. Body and brain (e.g., biology, neuroscience, health, growth, sleep)
2. Agency and participation (e.g., civic engagement, volunteering, digital activism)
3. Culture and society (e.g., gender, ethnicity, minority groups, religion, sexual diversities, cultural and cross-cultural research, social disadvantage)
4. Digitality (e.g., digital identities, smartphones, social media, video games, gamification)
5. Education and careers (e.g., achievement motivation, schooling, college, engagement, career choice and development, employability)
6. Methodology (e.g., new theories, new assessments and research designs, new methods for the study of change and development)

7. Relationships (e.g., parenting styles, family relations, romantic relationships, sexuality, role models, popularity)
8. The self (e.g., narrative identity, identity development, social self-concept, body image, temperament, conscientiousness, personality)
9. Social, emotional, and moral development (e.g., wellbeing, empathy, prosocial behavior, bullying, emotion regulation, coping, resilience, anxiety, depression, suicidality, addiction, substance use)
